

Song For A Cowboy

words & music by John Dandrea

Horses, wild horses ride 'em cowboy, all day long country, wild country ridin' free in the sun, all day long ride 'em Billy, don't get thrown riding all day is better than bein' alone. . . . .

Riding through cornfields feel the sun on your back, all day long chasin' the wind, jumpin' haystacks makin' fun outta work, all day long ride 'em Billy, and make some fun you know a cowboy's work is never done. . . . .

Finally, it's evening as the campfire begins to glow you take your guitar, as the horses gather and country singing makes the hours go sing it Billy, you don't really care that you're the only woman cowboy there. . . . .
