

Winding Roads

words & music by John Dandrea

Travellin' along a country road on a wagon full of hay and your hair softly blowin' in the wind is all it takes to make my day

I've always been a restless man "never settle down", that's my line. . . . oh, there'll come a day to regret it all but I won't change until that time

Cause I've got an easy feeling deep inside it's the happiness I've found with you by my side and all the dusty roads I travel through end up the same old place, they all take me back to you.

Tumblin' along these winding roads four black horses keepin' time and you look at me with lovin' in your eyes as the sun begins to shine

And I've got an easy feeling deep inside it's the happiness I've found with you by my side
end up the same old place,
they all take me back to you.
