

Things I Know

words & music
John Dandrea

In the darkest night, in the light of day there's not a time or a place where we can't pray and we know You're here, in the love we show that's among the things I know

And You lead us through to the Promised Land and when we falter, You take us by the hand and there'll be a peace when it's time to go
that's among the things I know

And I hear Your voice in the rolling thunder I feel Your touch in the slightest drop of rain and I know You're here, I don't have to wonder and I know my Savior is coming back again yes I know my Savior is coming back again
that's among the things I know

And I know a man, who died on a cross a perfect sacrifice made for the Lost so a sinful heart can be white as snow
that's among the things I know

And I hear Your voice in the rolling thunder
I feel Your touch in the slightest drop of rain
and I know You're here, I don't have to wonder
and I know my Savior is coming back again
yes I know my Savior is coming back again
that's among the things I know
that's among the things I know. . . .
