

The Power Of Prayer

words & music by John Dandrea

At the dawning of your day, you awake and you start to gather all the cares of your heart friends both near and far some have lost their way and don't know where to start

And you hesitate, unsure how to bring your cares before the Father's throne then you find your faith in His Son and you realize He counts you as His Own

And your prayers will be like sunlight, to someone who's alone and you have the Spirit in you, to pray that person home begin your day with prayer, begin your day with prayer and show you care

At the moment that you give up control the Spirit intercedes and he will speak for you and you are assured that the prayer of a righteous man availeth much - it's true

begin your day with prayer, begin your day with prayer
