

Passion For Love

words & music by John Dandrea

Where is your passion for love has it drifted away
like the passing of years getting colder each day

Where is the time that you spent on each other back then
where is your passion for love
for your special friend

It can't be too late for you to show that your love is true so never give in, just begin with something new and keep your passion for love

Where is your passion for love
has it drifted away
like the passing of years
getting colder each day

It can't be too late for you
to show that your love is true
so never give in, just begin
with something new
and keep your passion for love